French is...

- the second most frequently used language of the Internet.
- the second most frequently taught foreign language worldwide after English.
- one of the two official working languages at the International Labor Organization, the European Union, and OECD.
- an official language and a working language of the Olympic Games and the United Nations.
- a language of the World Economic Forum, the International Monetary Fund, and the International Red Cross.

If you're thinking of a career in business, science, technology, or medicine, you will certainly need research published in a French-speaking peer-reviewed journal and you may collaborate with a French-speaking colleague. Knowing French can also be a key to getting a job and it may open new doors for you.

Le français, c'est pratique!

Why Learn French?

The Reasons May Surprise You.
World Travel
French Means

French is the second most
recognized
language of the internet.

Business
French Means

Jobs!

French is the number one tourist
destination in the world.
France is the number one tourist
destination in the world.

Over 2.400 French companies
in the U.S.

French is the second most
recognized
language of the internet.

French is the second most
recognized
language of the internet.

French is the second most
recognized
language of the internet.

French is the second most
recognized
language of the internet.